Abschied mit Licht.

*„Death is but a transition from this life to another existence.“
Elisabeth Kübler-Ross*

What needs to be done when someone dies?

Important questions about death

- Did the deceased person formulate their last requests regarding their funeral in writing or verbally? Who is in possession of these wishes?
- Did they want to be buried or cremated?
- Should the deceased be laid out and if so, where?
- When will the deceased be transported and by whom?
- What clothes and jewellery will the deceased wear?
- What sort of coffin or urn should be used? What type of grave is desired?
- Where and when will the funeral take place? Important: it is imperative that burials take place in an official cemetery. In Switzerland, Aschefreiheit [ash freedom] applies in the case of cremation. This means that you can choose where and how you keep the ashes, entomb them or scatter them.
- Which clergyman or independent officiant should hold the funeral service?
